

DELIVERY APPROACH

Innovative Access to Comprehensive Capabilities

Do your business partners adapt to your business model, or do they force you to accommodate theirs? Too often, professional services companies deliver through narrow models that don't reflect the realities you face—from ever-changing business conditions and external threats to fluctuating human and budgetary resources.

Allied InfoSecurity is different. Focused only on information security, we're also 100% independent and 100% dedicated to meeting our clients' needs flexibly, efficiently, and effectively. All of our services are based on industry best practices captured in the internationally recognized ISO 27002 security standard and other key industry standards and regulations. And we deliver through a unique approach that provides innovative, flexible access to our full breadth of information security capabilities.

Working with Allied InfoSecurity, you can establish a true partnership that enables you to:

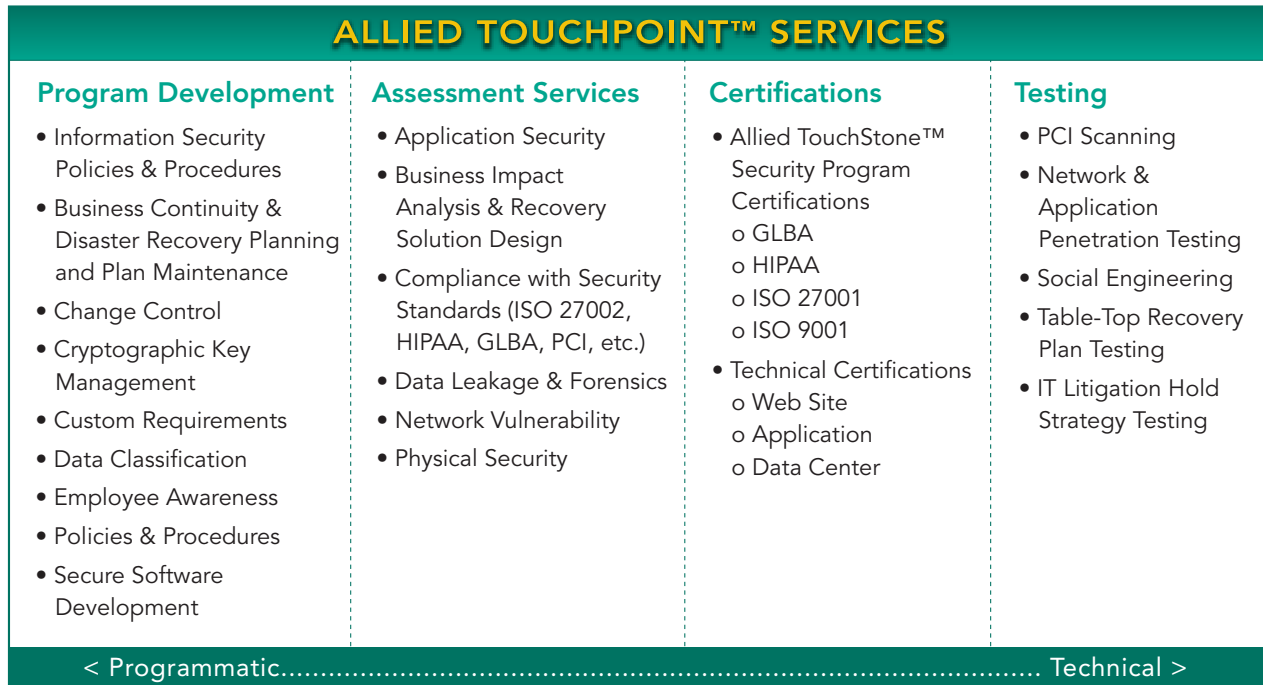

- Broaden your in-house capabilities more quickly than you may have thought possible
- Tap into the most appropriate security tools and expertise when you need them
- Call upon expert information security response capabilities should you experience an incident or other emergency
- Offload some of the technical and/or business burdens associated with your information security program

Your security is our business.

Professional Services Delivered Your Way

Best of all, you can gain access to Allied InfoSecurity’s comprehensive capabilities not only through traditional professional services engagements, but also through our suite of flexible service agreements. These agreements give you ongoing access to the expertise you need—when you need it. Choose from our Incident Response Service, Retainer Services, and Outsourcing Services.

“ Our flexible service agreements give you ongoing access to the expertise you need—when you need it. ”

What Best Meets Your Needs?

Incident Response Service

With this option, you contract for guaranteed access to expert, professional information security assistance in dealing with security incidents and/or emergency needs. Your agreement defines specific incident response times, service levels, and covered skill sets. In short, consider this your pre-defined information security “insurance policy.”

Subscription Services

Allied InfoSecurity also makes TouchPoint™ Services available on a subscription basis—enabling organizations to contract for one or more years of support. This approach helps ensure consistent, disciplined approach, provides continuity of care, and offers efficiencies in pricing. The subscription model also facilitates rapid project kick-offs and completions by alleviating many administrative requirements and providing access to security resources who become intimately familiar with each client's environment and challenges.

Retainer Services

Like the Incident Response Service and Subscription Services, this option delivers contractually guaranteed access to Allied InfoSecurity's expertise—but with much greater depth and flexibility.

In addition to Incident Response, you can also choose to deploy your retained security expertise to meet other needs such as:

- Awareness, Training, and Education
- Security Operations and Project Management
- Technical Security Architecture and Infrastructure
- Compliance, Testing, and Exposure Management
- Security Policies and Procedures

Or, customize your agreement to address other technical or business issues—including the need to assess and certify the effectiveness of your own and your business associates' information security programs.

Whatever approach you choose, our Retainer Services empower you to dynamically customize your services engagements based on your organization's specific needs.

Outsourcing Services

Want to go a step beyond Retainer Services and offload full responsibility for some or all of the components of your information security program? Through our Outsourcing Services, Allied InfoSecurity allows you to put the burden on us. We'll ensure world-class management and execution of specific technical and/or business aspects of your program, or for your program in its entirety.
